FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Fifteen high school teachers have been awarded scholarships from the Kentucky Department of Education to attend the College Board Advanced Placement Teacher Training Program Summer Institute at Morehead State University, July 9-13.

Funded by a federal grant, the Kentucky Advanced Placement Incentive Program (K-APIP) allows teachers increased opportunities to develop and improve their knowledge base, which will lead to student success in AP courses.

To qualify for a scholarship, teachers submitted an application along with a narrative of no more than 500 words, explaining why they should be selected for the program. The award covers the cost of tuition and fees. MSU is one of only five sites in the state that will teach the AP courses.

The high schools represented, teachers winning scholarships, and their subject areas are: Bracken County: Gary McKinney, biology; Kentucky Virtual High School: Ghennady Chernavski, calculus; Graves County: Elaine Kaye, literature; Buckhorn: Phil Swartzentruber, statistics;

Bourbon County: Leslie Sutton, English Literature and Composition, and Catina Sims, English Literature; East Jessamine: Michael Holder, English; Greenup County: Rosemary Waller, English; Menifee County: Timothy Hacker, biology;

Morgan County: Pamela Holbrook, calculus; Rowan County: Ray Ginter, calculus; Lincoln Central: Jennifer Byrd, English; Estill County: Randy Sutter, calculus, and Charlotte O'Bryan, U.S. history.

Teachers from across Kentucky and various surrounding states have already registered for the program, according to Tina Stafford, MSU regional campus coordinator. Additional information on the program is available by calling (606) 783-2605.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Nearly 125 high school seniors from across the state will attend the Kentucky Boys State Program on the Morehead State University campus, June 10-15. The program, sponsored by the Kentucky American Legion, is a practical learning experience in state and local government.

The opening ceremonies for the program will be held at 4 p.m. in Baird Music Hall. Representatives from the University will be among those greeting the delegates.

At the 7 p.m. session, a representative from the Kentucky National Guard will address the young men.

During the week, the youth will take part in mock government sessions designed to provide practical lessons in city and state government. They will learn more about the state's political process by developing their own two-party system and electing state and city officials; serving as legislators, and introducing, debating and enacting laws as in the Kentucky General Assembly.

Elected Boys State officers, including governor and lieutenant governor, will be announced on Wednesday, June 13, and on Thursday, they will travel to Frankfort to meet their real life counterparts.

The program will conclude on Friday, June 15, with graduation ceremonies and announcement of Boys Nation delegates.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Ernestine Winfield believes today's youth need to have goals and to work toward being a success in life.

Winfield, director of the Minority Teacher Education Program at Morehead State University, may work in a higher education setting, but her desire to teach students reaches beyond this into the high school and middle school grades.

"Traditionally, we have educated our high school students on the importance of attending college," Winfield said. "By today's standards, that is too late to begin the process."

Winfield will host 85 middle and high school students for the University's MTEP Summer Program, June 11-16, on the campus. Funded in part by the Council on Postsecondary Education, the program offers a schedule that simulates college life where participants explore the opportunities available in the teacher education field along with communication skills and educational workshops.

To increase the number of minority students entering the teaching profession, the MTEP program provides assistance and encouragement. "I tell my students that if you want to go to college, we can help," Winfield said. "But you have to put forth the effort."

MSU has been working with junior high students through the Jefferson County Partnership Act for several years. "We encourage the youngsters to start thinking about taking college track courses before they enter high school," she said. The $1 million the University received from the GEAR-UP grant last year will provide funds for academic programs for middle school students in East Kentucky, she added.

Statewide, the number of African American students enrolling in college after high school has increased in recent years, according to statistics from the Council on Postsecondary Education, but Winfield would like to see the numbers go higher. In 1998, 51.5 percent of the students enrolled, compared to 34.3 percent in 1982.

Students cited several reasons for not choosing to teach, according to Sherron Jackson, senior associate with the CPE. Among them are: a lack of minority role models, low teacher salaries, lack of financial aid and support, and issues related to certification after completing the teacher education program.

Winfield
2-2-2-2

While success does not always come easy, Winfield believes lots of problems--in school and in life--may be avoided if one is prepared. Drawing on personal experiences, she credits hard work for allowing her to become a teacher.

Growing up in Jeffersonville, Ind., Winfield was a single mom in her thirties when she chose to return to the classroom. A former employee of Louisville Welding Company, she attended Jefferson State Vocational School for two years before continuing her studies at MSU.

An honors graduate, Winfield earned associate and bachelor's degrees in industrial technology as well as a master's degree in vocational education from MSU. She taught welding at the LaGrange Vocational Education Center, part of the Kentucky State Reformatory, before accepting a fulltime post at MSU to oversee the welding program.

During the next year, Winfield held a joint appointment with the University's College of Education and Behavioral Sciences and the Department of Industrial Education and Technology after being named coordinator of the MTEP program in 1992.

Although she no longer teaches welding, Winfield remains busy teaching other courses, including MSU 101. A large portion of her time is spent on administrative duties, completing paperwork, and locating resources that would fund scholarships for her students.

WINFIELD ADVISES STUDENTS AT MSU

Ernestine Winfield, left, director of the Minority Teacher Education Program at Morehead State University, wants more students to enter the teaching profession. She is an adviser and mentor for those on campus while working throughout the state to get other young people interested in the teacher education field. Her days are spent in many one-on-one sessions with students, like Sebastian Waters, a Knoxville, Tenn., freshman, who is majoring in elementary education.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Rob Dickerson, a graduate student from Fletcher, Ohio, has been elected president of the Student Government Association at Morehead State University for the coming year. In this position, he will serve as the student representative on the University's Board of Regents.

The new president plans to draw on his experiences at MSU to help him succeed. "I have had the opportunity to participate in everything from summer orientations to graduation," said Dickerson, who was a candidate for the Bachelor of Business Administration degree in May.

"I want the students to know that their voices are being heard," he said, noting that he hopes to use the SGA meetings as an outlet. "A time will be set aside for students to come by the office and share information."

Dickerson, the son of Dan and Fay Dickerson, would like to establish additional forums during the year to allow the students and administration to work closer. He also plans to work toward establishing a co-curricular transcript, which would allow one's activities, such as student involvement, fraternity or sorority, to be documented along with classes, grade point averages, and degrees.

Among other issues, he is working on expansion of the computer lease program to allow all students access to computers, the new One Card for identification, and 24-hour visitation in some residence halls.

A member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, Dickerson has been a resident adviser and a Student Alumni Ambassador. He served two terms on SGA, as sophomore and senior representative.

Dickerson and the other executive officers made history this spring when they were selected in the first online election conducted at MSU. Plans are to continue the online process for future elections, the president noted, as there was an increase in the number of students who voted and savings to SGA by using this process.

Other members of the Executive Committee will be:

*Executive vice president--Brian S. Martin, the son of Jerry and Linda Martin of Grethel. A senior history and computer information systems major, he is a former three-year congressman, a two-year committee chairman and the 2000-2001 congressman of the year. He is secretary of Theta Chi fraternity.

*Vice president for finance—Abbey K. Liggett, the daughter of Dale Liggett and Peggy Perkins of Brecksville, Ohio. A sophomore communications major with an emphasis in advertising and public relations, she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, Student Alumni Ambassadors and the campus Civility Committee.

*Vice president for public relations—E. Gerome Stephens, the son of Jerry and Patsy Stephens of Morehead. A senior elementary education major, he is a member of Baptist Student Union and Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University President Ronald G. Eaglin has received a contract extension through June 30, 2005, from the University's Board of Regents. His salary will increase to $170,000 yearly from the current $159,120.

Dr. Eaglin, who became MSU's 12th president in 1992, had three years remaining on his most recent contract when the Regents approved the one-year extension. With nearly nine years in office, he has the second longest tenure of any MSU president.

In other action at the quarterly meeting, the Regents approved a yearly operating budget of $87.4 million, including the funding of a five percent increase in the total salary base and an additional $840 per year in paid medical insurance premiums for each full-time faculty and staff member. With this increase, MSU is paying $210 monthly for each employee.

The Regents also received a report on the expansion of student services that will be available with the implementation of a new one-card identification program. The EagleCard, which will be available this fall, may be used for access to vending machines, laundry facilities, copiers and computer printers. A banking services option is expected to be available in the near future.

In other matters, the Regents authorized continuing negotiations for land acquisitions related to the expansion and renovation of the Adron Doran University Center. MSU was approved for a $10 million project in the state's 2000-2002 budget. Phase I will allow for purchase of land, realignment of the existing structure and site development, which will add 55,500 gross square feet. Opened in 1957, the building was expanded to its present size in 1969.

In the final report on spring enrollment, the Regents learned that MSU had 7,845 students, an increase of nearly four percent from last year's figures.

The Regents also approved allowing freshmen students living in University housing to purchase a meal plan of their choice rather than the declining balance program now in effect. The new option becomes effective in fall 2002.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A juried exhibition showcasing regional artists is on display in Morehead State University's Claypool-Young Art Building.

A traveling show organized by Appalshop in Whitesburg, "Images from the Mountains" may be viewed through Friday, June 29, in the main gallery. The show features two-dimensional works in oil paint, watercolor, pen and ink, and pastel.

The gallery is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. There is no charge for viewing.

Artists whose work is displayed include:

* Tabby Back of Eolia. A lifelong resident of Letcher County, he began his career as an artist at the age of 3.

* Gabrielle Beasley of Hyden. A designer, photographer and videographer, she has been documenting life in Leslie County since graduating from college in 1974.

* Krystal Collins of Viper. A sophomore at Perry County Central High School, she is 17 and the daughter of Keithell and Dorothy Collins.

* Ron Gevedon of Cannel City. A self-taught painter, he likes to inject his work with humor, pathos and tragedy along with a dose of puns, both visual and verbal.

* Michael W. Gibson of Hazard. A member of the National Art Society at Perry County High School, he is the son of Carl Fred Noble.

* Nora Sturgill Hall of Delphia. The owner of a pet grooming business, she began painting at 16.

* Sylvia Jackson of Catlettsburg. An exhibitor in many regional, state and national shows, she has work in numerous collections throughout the United States.

* Richard Nunemaker of Prestonsburg. Sent to Vietnam as a combat artist and illustrator in 1968, he worked in the Kentucky billboard business for 26 years before retiring.

* Darrell Pickle of Bristol, Va. A member of the Art Depot of Abingdon, Va., and the Bristol Art Guild, he is a church pastor.

* Ruby Queen of Hitchins. Raised on a farm in Lawrence County, she has paintings in various private collections throughout the United States.

* Joe Sartor of Morehead. An emeritus professor at Morehead State, he has lived in Rowan County since 1968.

* Shannon Shepherd of Stanville. A Morehead State graduate with a master's degree in studio art, he is a teacher at Betsy Layne High School.

* Karen M. Telford of Wellington. A writer and photographer for Arts Across Kentucky magazine, she is a two-time graduate of MSU where she is an adjunct faculty member in the University's Department of Art.

* Violet Vago of Salt Lick. A physical therapist, she has expanded her art to include visual aspects of healing.

* Nellie Vanover of Krypton. A self-taught artist since the age of 14, she began her craft to help her cope with the death of six family members, including her brother.

* Geraldine Lewis-Wireman of Isonville. The mother of three and a graduate student at MSU, she was raised in Elliott County.

* Brandon Wooton of Chavies. A sophomore at Perry County Central High School and the son of Alice and Rick Wooton, he is in his second year of the gifted and talented art program.

REP. WEBB SPEAKS AT BOYS STATE AT MSU

Rep. Robin L. Webb (D-Grayson) was among those who offered legislative assistance to the Kentucky Boys State Program. After addressing the group, she worked with the young men in organizing their mythical House of Representatives. After joining the young men for lunch, Rep. Webb visited with delegate James Bartley of Ashland. Kentucky Boys State, a practical learning experience in state and local government, is sponsored by the American Legion and held at Morehead State University.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Jesse Gunstream IV of Russell took advantage of some good advice he had been given: "You can't win if you don't compete."

The Russell High School senior entered the race and won the highest elected position at Kentucky Boys State, that of governor. He will spend the remainder of the week as the group's leader, fulfilling duties of the office, approving legislation and making appointments.

The Kentucky Boys State program, sponsored by the American Legion, will continue through Friday, June 15, on the Morehead State University campus. On Thursday, the elected officials will travel to Frankfort to visit their real-life counterparts.

Gunstream is enjoying the weeklong Boys State program that has given him an opportunity to participate in the political process. While he was happy he had won, he was more pleased that he has retained a friendship with his opponent who became his first political appointee.

During his term, the new governor emphasized that he will remain loyal to his party's platform and lobby for its issues that includes a strong educational program, better gun safety and benefits for veterans.

A career in politics may not be in the future of the Boys State delegate who is the son of Sue Gunstream and Jesse Gunstream. After graduation, he hopes to attend the University of Texas or the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and major in mechanical engineering.

Active in programs at RHS, he is a member of Beta Club, National Honor Society, Academic Team and Science Olympiad Team and was a National Merit qualifier.

Elected to the office of Lt. Governor was Jeff Dorris of Louisville, who describes the election process as more than he had anticipated. "I have learned that running for office is a lot of hard work," he said. "There is so much to do, with campaigning and all, to get elected."

The son of Jeff Dorris Sr., and Melody Mason, Dorris is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students" and is a member of Boy Scouts of America where he is working toward the rank of an Eagle Scout. In the fall, he will play football at Doss High School. He hopes to attend college and major in business and economics with a minor in politics.

TAKING CARE OF BUSINESS AT BOYS STATE

Col. Jasper Carpenter, left, chief of staff with the Department of Military Affairs at the Boone National Guard Center, was the keynote speaker for the opening session of Kentucky Boys State. In his remarks, he encouraged the young men to continue their education and "attain at least a college degree, become computer literate and learn a foreign language, preferably Spanish or Japanese. The world will belongs to you," he said, noting that they should finish, stay focused and dedicated and have passion for whatever they choose to do in life. Following his talk, Col. Carpenter was presented an official Boys State cap by Silas Noel of Frankfort, the program's director.

SPECIAL TO THE MOREHEAD NEWS – PRIDE TAB

MOREHEAD, Ky.---After 114 years of service, Morehead State University is continuing to build on its rich heritage to make the future brighter for its students.

From the humble beginnings of one makeshift classroom, the University has grown to nearly 500 acres, has 55 major structures, offers 66 undergraduate degree programs and provides various opportunities that are unique to the area. MSU has emerged as a leader in the high-tech world of Internet-based classes and offers one of the few Masters of Business Administration degrees completely online.

MSU students, especially those in the math and science areas, have expanded their training since the University acquired its radio telescope in 1998. The telescope, the only one of its kind in Kentucky and one of less than 100 in the world, allows students literally to reach the stars. This educational experience will be further enhanced when the newest acquisition, a NASA satellite tracking antenna, replaces the telescope in the near future.

The antenna, which will be shared statewide by researchers at the state's other public universities, will support research as part of a state-of-the-art laboratory for students in astrophysics, satellite telecommunications, electrical engineering and software development.

Preparing students for success was the goal when the Breckinridge Hall renovation and expansion project began in 1999. The $14 million facelift includes a complete renovation and modernization of the existing facility with a 6,335 square foot east addition and an 18,207 square foot west addition. With construction to be completed within the year, the facility will feature cutting edge technology in its experimental theatre-television production studio, distance learning facilities, WMKY radio station, classrooms, offices and other amenities.

The history of the former classroom building will not be forgotten as Breckinridge alumni from across the country are being given the option to name areas of the new building through major gifts to the MSU Foundation Inc. Each named area will be identified with appropriate and permanent signage. A record of times past will become part of the school's archives in the "virtual Breck" display.

MSU launched the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music in 2000 to preserve an appreciation of traditional music through programs of education and performance, and to train the next generation of musicians. New this fall, students will have four classes from which to choose that would satisfy requirements for a minor in traditional music. The center has been accepted with enthusiasm by seasoned performers from far and wide who have volunteered their time to serve on the KCTM advisory board.

Previously, KCTM activities have been coordinated by Sandy Knipp, a songwriter, teacher and performer of traditional music for more than 30 years, who is the founding executive director. Thanks to a coordinated effort with the Morehead Tourism Commission, funds will be available to hire a full time coordinator and establish a marketing plan for the traditional music center later this year.

The University has formed a partnership with local agencies to determine where to locate KCTM. A proposed plan suggests a site near the Kentucky Folk Art Center on First Street.

While it is among the newest endeavors at MSU, the traditional music center has gained a following by joining with WMKY, the University's public radio station, to produce "Americana Crossroads Live." Slated for the last Friday each month, Americana features a free concert by some of the region's best musicians. The performers have played bluegrass, old time, folk, and other acoustic music forms to standing-room only crowds.

MSU also is home to the Kentucky Folk Art Center, which last year had more than 6,400 registered guests as well as numerous others who came in groups or to attend evening concerts. Art lovers from around the state and across the nation have come to the center to make purchases or learn about Appalachian culture depicted in the exhibits on display. Now in its 25th year, the annual KFAC-sponsored Appalachian Celebration has presented demonstrations, storytelling, tours and featured musical performances by numerous well-known entertainers.

Keeping teacher education among its major goals, MSU has reorganized the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences and renamed it the College of Education. Dan Branham, a career educator with extensive experience working with public schools, has been named dean of the new college. These changes come after a yearlong assessment to determine how to better prepare teachers. The University administered a $1.4 million PT3 grant project, "Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology," which was coordinated with school districts in the area, and organized the Appalachian P-16 Council, the first entity in the state to bring together all levels of education for collaboration and cooperation.

As with any organization, the major asset rests in the support of its people. Last year, MSU faculty, staff and students contributed more than $121,000 to the annual Campus Giving Campaign. This marked a 46 percent increase in participation from the previous year.

After more than two years of effort and cooperation by countless individuals, MSU began the year with complete affirmation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS), giving all academic programs reaccreditation through 2010.

The SACS visiting team made few recommendations, which will be implemented, while granting four commendations: organization and implementation of the self-study process, functionality of the institution's Web site, support by the Office of Information Technology, and efforts to preserve and recognize the value of the art of history of the region through the Kentucky Folk Art Center. MSU personnel were invited to discuss the process at the SACS meeting in Atlanta in December.

Throughout the year, MSU has increased its presence locally and abroad. Among the highlights are:

- *The Institute for Regional Analysis and Public Policy has begun numerous projects to assist communities, including the GEAR UP grant to benefit middle school students in East Kentucky.

- *Students enrolled in the first class for the Associate of Applied Science degree in respiratory care, a collaborative effort between the Northeast Consortium for Respiratory Care Education, Rowan Technical College and MSU.

- *The Office of International Education coordinated study abroad programs in a variety of locations for 121 students and 13 faculty members and hosted students in the Magellan Exchange from Finland, Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands. Summer programs were held on campus for Chinese nurses who studied nursing administration and for Korean students to learn English and business.

- *Seventy-seven students from MSU's contiguous counties enrolled in a tuition free college course while completing their last year of high school.

- *MSU was recognized for its leadership in recycling and participation in the Community Recycling Center by receiving the first annual America Recycles Day "Who's Who of Recycling in Kentucky" award.

- *The first endowed chair, in memory of Dr. C. Louise Caudill, was funded with monies from the first installment of the state's matching fund program.

Through these efforts and many others, MSU will continue to draw on its rich legacy while preparing students for the future.

MOREHEAD, Ky. ---Nineteen Morehead State University students and recent graduates have been employed in paid positions in theatres across the country during the summer.

Most students acquired their positions through competitive auditions and interviews at the Southeastern Theatre Conference or at other regional and national auditions, said Dr. Travis P. Lockhart, MSU's director of theatre.

"We are increasingly aware in our communications with employers and our students that we have a very solid reputation," Dr. Lockhart said. "Many of these companies are willing to hire our students year after year.

"Our students have worked in some of the most prestigious regional theatres in the country this year, including the Berkshire Theatre Festival and The Lost Colony," he added.

Three students are working at the Heritage Repertory Theatre in Virginia: Kristopher Castle, Lowmansville junior, as a costumer; Laurie Dye, Findlay, Ohio, sophomore, as a box office manager; and Dale Marie Prenatt, Paintsville senior, as a technician.

Six students are employed in "The Lost Colony" production in Manteo, N.C.: Kyle Dixon, Greenup senior, as an actor/technician; Ricky Fromeyer, Dayton freshman, as a costumer; Dustin Hawkins, Bloomfield sophomore, as an actor/technician; Steve Kazee, Ashland senior, as an actor in the lead role of John Borden; Amanda Layne, Pikeville graduate student, as an actress; and Emily Moses, Cynthiana graduating senior, as an actress/technician.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University theatre students will present four main stage productions during its 2001-02 season: "The Matchmaker," "Awake and Sing," "House of Blue Leaves" and "Man of La Mancha."

Written by Thornton Wilder, "The Matchmaker," will be performed Oct. 11-13 at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium. A rich, widowed merchant employs matchmaker Dolly Levi who wants to marry Horace herself. Her maneuvering involves three other couples and leads to many comedic complications.

"Awake and Sing," written by Clifford Odets, will be on stage at the Kibbey Theatre from Nov. 13 to 17 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 18 at 2 p.m. The playwright made Broadway history with this portrayal of the struggles of a Jewish family during the Depression. It portrays American family life injected with humor, pathos and historical significance.

Written by John Guare, "House of Blue Leaves," will be performed Feb. 26 through March 2 at 8 p.m. and March 3 at 2 p.m. in Kibbey Theatre. A modern comedy with a cynical edge, this play tells the story of a middle-aged zoo attendant who wants to be a songwriter. In addition, his son arrives absent without leave from Fort Dix carrying a bomb and intending to blow up the Pope in Yankee Stadium.

"Man of La Mancha," a book by Dale Wasserman with music by Mitch Leigh and lyrics by Joe Darion, will be on stage April 4-6 at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium. A prisoner of the Inquisition in Seville, Miguel de Cervantes and his fellow inmates perform his uncompleted manuscript of "Don Quixote." The prisoners become transformed by the courage and humanity of the story.

Theatre students also will present three second stage events. The performances include "An Evening of One-Act Plays," in Kibbey Theatre in September; "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," book, music and lyrics by Clark Gesner, based on the comic strip "Peanuts" by Charles Schultz, in Button Auditorium, Dec. 6-8, 8 p.m.; and "Wit," by Margaret Edson, in Kibbey Theatre, April 18-20, 8 p.m.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---An award-winning singer/songwriter duo will be among the performers at Morehead State University's "Americana Crossroads Live" on Friday, June 29, at 7:30 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall of Baird Music Hall on the campus.

The concert, which is free and open to the public, will showcase the traditional and contemporary music of the group Zoe Speaks. The show is part of a series presented by WMKY 90.3 FM, MSU's public radio to the mountains, and the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music. The emcee for the evening will be Sandy Knipp, host of WMKY's "Bluegrass Diversion" program and KCTM director.

Past winners of the Chris Austin songwriting contest, Mitch Barrett and Carla Gover are Zoe Speaks. When performing on stage, they trade harmony and melody to sound like a single person.

Their latest album, "Pearl," was released last year and is based on themes of family, heritage, spirituality and the environment.

A native of Blue Lick, Barrett grew up hearing traditional stories and songs from people in his community. He regularly performed with his mother and has received many awards throughout his career including the Kerrville New Folk Award in 1999. He has opened for numerous entertainers including Ronnie Milsap, Pure Prairie League, Lee Greenwood and Arlo Guthrie.

Raised in Whitesburg, Gover learned to play a wide range of instruments from banjo and fiddle to French horn and saxophone while earning a college degree in Appalachian studies. She has performed with various groups and opened for Doc Watson, David Grier, John Prine and Livingston Taylor.

Also performing at the June 29 concert will be the bluegrass group White Horse String Band and vocalist Dale Ann Bradley.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Benjamin K. Malphrus, Morehead State University professor of space science, has been invited to speak at the Small Radio Telescopes in Modern Astronomy Workshop in August.

The conference, sponsored by the Pisgah Astronomical Research Institute in North Carolina, will bring together astronomers who have designed innovative research programs, student research projects, coursework and laboratories and public outreach programs. It also will provide opportunities for roundtable discussions on successful funding efforts and other issues related to radio telescopes.

Dr. Malphrus will speak on "The Morehead Radio Telescope and NASA ADAS Project: Involving Undergraduates in Research in Radiofrequency Astrophysics." MSU's radio telescope is the only one of its kind in Kentucky. It is operated by software, created by University faculty and students, that also is being used by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Also invited to share information at the workshop were Dr. Wayne Christiansen of the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill and Dr. Kevin Marvel of the American Astronomical Society.

Plans are underway to relocate a NASA satellite tracking antenna to the campus. Jointly announced by NASA and the University, the project involves transfer of the $20 million antenna and $2 million in federal funds for related costs.

The antenna, which is nine stories tall, has a 60-foot in diameter tracking dish. In recent years, its primary mission was to provide tracking and control for the International Ultraviolet Explorer (IUE) satellite. NASA decommissioned the antenna system after the IUE mission ended in 1997.

Additional information is available by e-mail to Dr. Malphrus at b.malphr@morehead-st.edu or by calling (606) 783-2212. Information about the workshop is available online at www.pari.edu.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A band with Morehead State University roots will be among the performers at the University's "Americana Crossroads Live" on Friday, June 29, at 7:30 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall of Baird Music Hall on the campus.

The concert, which is free and open to the public, will showcase the traditional music of the White Horse String Band. The show is part of a series presented by WMKY 90.3 FM, MSU's public radio to the mountains, and the Kentucky Center for Traditional Music.

Founded in 1984, the group plays "old-style" banjo and fiddle music with Appalachian character. It also performs other types of traditional music, mostly Irish/Scottish and French Canadian.

Members of the White Horse String Band are: Dr. Ron Dobler, retired chair of the MSU Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy; Sandy Knipp, host of WMKY's "Bluegrass Diversion" program and KCTM director; Steve Rigsby, former Rowan County Middle School band director; and Leo Blair, retired MSU associate professor of music.

An old-time clawhammer banjo and mountain dulcimer player, Dr. Dobler helped to name the group in reference to Welsh poet Dylan Thomas and a place in New York City.

Knipp, two-time graduate of Morehead State, plays guitar, bluegrass banjo and bass. A Morehead native, he is a retired school administrator.

A graduate of MSU and a Rowan County native, Rigsby is the group's bass player, but he plays numerous instruments from traditional to orchestral. He also operates his own recording studio in Morehead.

The band's fiddle player, Blair has performed with orchestras in Lexington and Huntington and recorded a compact disc, "My Country Roots." He has helped to establish KCTM.

Also performing at the June 29 concert will be vocalist Dale Ann Bradley and the duo Zoe Speaks, known to play everything from old-time gospel to traditional folk songs.

Additional information about "Americana Crossroads" is available by calling WMKY at (606) 783-2001 or by visiting their Web site at www.moreheadstate.edu/units/wmky.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A traditional musician will be the host of a new bluegrass music program on WMKY 90.3 FM, Morehead State University's public radio station.

Jesse Wells, who plays guitar, mandolin, fiddle and banjo in two different ensembles, will host "Bluegrass Sunday" which debuts July 1 at 11 a.m. He is a member of the Licking River Ramblers, a bluegrass band, and the Troughsloppers, an old-time string group.

The addition of Wells' show will bolster WMKY's weekend line up that includes a bluegrass program which airs from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

A recent graduate, Wells earned a degree in music with an emphasis in jazz and studio music from Morehead State in May. He also studied classical guitar at the University of Louisville.

A Johnson Central High School graduate, Wells sees his "Bluegrass Sunday" program as "a way to educate more people about the virtues of traditional music, especially bluegrass gospel which doesn't get much attention." He plans to feature those sounds on his show.

Wells gained his lifetime love of bluegrass music from his family. His father was a fiddler and his uncle played with the Reno Brothers. He lists his musical influences as Bruce Molsky, Ralph Stanley, Doc Watson and Don Rigsby.

Though a newcomer to radio himself, Wells' family is not as several of them have worked in broadcasting. Similar to his own interests, Wells noted the late John Hartford started a career as a Nashville radio personality before entering the music industry.

Additional information is available by calling WMKY at (606) 783-2001 or visiting its Web site at www.moreheadstate.edu/units/wmky.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Christopher S. Gallaher, chair of the Department of Music at Morehead State University, has been following the advice he gives students—keep practicing and perfecting your skills.

From the 1970s until the 1990s, Dr. Gallaher performed with Cobine’s band, playing trumpet or drums, as well as arranging more than 70 pieces of music for the group.

Committed to balancing his time among teaching, creative endeavors and service, the musician and educator has nearly 40 compositions and arrangements in print that are performed frequently throughout the United States and Europe each year. He also has more than 400 unpublished arrangements written for ensembles ranging in size from eight to 23 members.

An MSU faculty member since 1972, Dr. Gallaher was named department chair in 1985. He has performed with many major entertainment stars, including the Henry Mancini Orchestra, Bob Hope, Johnny Mathis, Doc Severinsen, Liza Minelli, Elvis Presley, Jay Leno and Steve Martin.

An MSU graduate, Dr. Gallaher earned the M.M. and Ph.D. degrees in music theory from Indiana University where Cobine was presented an honorary doctorate in May.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A group of Morehead State University students won second runner-up at the 2001 Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) USA National Exposition in Missouri.

The team competed against more than 150 other groups made up of approximately 2,200 students from around the country. To qualify for the national tournament, MSU students won the regional championship held in Lexington earlier this year.

During the national competition, SIFE teams presented 24-minute multi-media summaries of the educational outreach projects they developed and implemented throughout the academic year. They were judged by a panel of business and community leaders.

Morehead State's team placed in the Data Systems International League category. The participants included:

Amanda Dutton, Louisa senior. The daughter of Brad and Annie Dutton, she is a retail merchandising and design major. Treasurer of the Student Association for Feminist Thought, she also teaches multimedia software in MSU's Learning Technology Lab.

Jaime LuAnn Allen, Lexington senior. The daughter of Don and Patty Allen, she is a May graduate with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in management. The president and a certified scholar of SIFE, she is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, Phi Sigma Pi honor fraternity, Phi Beta Lambda professional organization, and the Society of Human Resource Management.

Kimberly Hitt, Brooksville senior. The daughter of Gordon and Ruby Hitt, she is a management major. A member of Phi Beta Lambda professional organization, she has served on the Mignon Hall Council.

Amanda Turner, Jackson senior. The daughter of William and Rosa Turner of Canoe, she is a marketing major. A member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, she is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Order of the Omega honor societies.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University, in conjunction with the Rowan and Elliott county school districts, hosted students from St. Petersburg, Russia.

The visit was a result of an educational research study conducted by schools in Morehead, St. Petersburg and Sunderland, England. Shirley Blair, director of MSU's educational service unit, visited School 63 in Russia, where she arranged the trip.

Follow-up invitations were extended by Denton Blair's Rowan County Senior High School social studies classes and Laura Sparks' sixth grade class at Lakeside Elementary in Elliott County. Before coming to America, the Russian students exchanged letters and e-mail messages with their counterparts in Kentucky.

During their two-week stay, the Russian students, their assistant principal Olga Toumanove and English teacher Raisa Zelenko resided with host families. They studied American history, culture and Kentucky's public school system.

The overseas journey also gave Russian students the opportunity to practice conversational and written English, which they began studying at the age of seven.

Field trips included a tour of MSU's campus, visits to the University's Kentucky Folk Art Center, Morehead's City Hall, Carter Caves State Resort Park, the Newport Aquarium, and other sites around the commonwealth.

2001 APPALACHIAN TREASURE AWARD RECIPIENT

A highlight of Morehead State University's Appalachian Celebration was the presentation of the Appalachian Treasure Award to Melvin Goins of Catlettsburg. MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin made the presentation of the handmade rocker, the tangible symbol of the award, which is given annually to recognize dedication in promoting and preserving the cultural heritage of Appalachia. Goins, who has been playing mountain and bluegrass music for more than 50 years, performs with the legendary Lonesome Pine Fiddlers and Windy Mountain. He is a member of MSU's Kentucky Center for Traditional Music board of directors.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The cooperative efforts of police officers at Morehead State University and the Morehead Police Department have broken up a burglary ring that has been affecting the campus and the city.

Nine individuals have been arrested as a result of an ongoing investigation: Shane Godby, 23; Jason Griffith, 22; Greg Morris, 20; Adam Potter, 20; Edwin Zinn, 26; and Sarah Zinn, 21, all of Morehead. Three male juveniles also have been charged.

MSU property recovered is estimated at $43,000. The items, taken during approximately 16 separate burglaries, included computers, computer parts, computer projectors, compact discs and a violin. The Morehead police estimate they have recovered an additional $14,375 worth of stolen property that was taken from at least three burglaries within the city limits.

The break in the case came on Sunday morning, June 24, when MSU police officers Ruford Abner and Wayson Cooper, responded to door alarms at the Lloyd Cassity Building at 4:30 a.m. Two suspects, who were found inside the building, were taken into custody at the scene. The officers relayed the description of a third suspect who was apprehended by Morehead police officer Tim Smedley.

Officers from both departments obtained search warrants for the suspects' residences where most of the stolen items were recovered. Kentucky State Police recovered additional items from another location in Rowan County on Tuesday.

Officer Abner described the recovery as the largest he had been involved with in his nearly four years with MSU. "Some of the items are in fair condition while others are beyond repair." The University is insured for the stolen property.

The officers are continuing the investigation, which has been in progress since the beginning of May.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Nicole Lynn Farley was one of 18 candidates who competed in the 2001 Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival at Pine Mountain State Park (May 24).

For her participation, Farley was named "Miss Congeniality" by the other queen candidates.

"It was a wonderful experience," Farley said. "Not only was it an enjoyable time, but I have made so many new friends," she added, noting that she is sure they will continue to correspond by electronic mail.

Farley represented Morehead State University in the competition that is open to college students from across the state. For the festivities, Rob Dickerson, MSU graduate student from Fletcher, Ohio, was her escort.

The daughter of Charles and Kathy Farley of South Shore and Janet and Terry Lutz of Lucasville, Ohio, Farley is a May graduate of MSU with a Bachelor of Arts degree in elementary education. In the fall, she will begin studies toward a master's degree in guidance counseling.

A peer adviser, she is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and Gamma Beta Phi honor society. A resident adviser in Nunn Hall for three years, she was a substitute teacher with Rowan County Schools, Sunday School teacher at Johnson First Church of God and service chair of MSU's art club. During the summer, she is working with the University's Upward Bound program where she is a bridge supervisor.

Last fall, Farley and Dickerson were named the University's Homecoming Queen and King.

June 29, 2001

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will hold two Student Orientation, Advising and Registration (SOAR) programs in July to assist new students in getting acquainted with MSU.

The daylong sessions, which will follow the same format, will be held on Friday and Saturday, July 13 and 14, for incoming freshmen, transfer students and their parents.

"SOAR is an important part of the college experience," said Joel Pace, associate director of admissions. "It provides students with the foundation necessary to begin their university career."

The activities will start with registration at 9 a.m. in front of the Adron Doran University Center. Following SOAR registration, students will have the opportunity to have photographs taken for their identification cards.

With their parents, future students also may visit displays from various academic departments, student organizations, housing, financial aid as well as the Morehead/Rowan County Tourism Commission. Transfer students will attend an orientation session with Loretta Lykins, MSU registrar, at 9:30 a.m. in ADUC.

University personnel will welcome all participants at 10:30 a.m. in Button Auditorium. Among those scheduled to deliver greetings are Myron Doan, dean of students; Mike Mincey, vice president for student life; Lora Pace, coordinator of retention; and Madonna Weathers, director of student development.

Students then will visit the academic departments for advising and parents will have a special session to address their questions and concerns. After students schedule their fall classes, they may revisit the displays, have lunch in ADUC and take a campus tour.

Representatives from financial aid, housing, accounting and budgetary control and the University police also will be available to answer questions. There will be a Greek informational meeting in Button Auditorium at 1 p.m.

At the end of the day, students will receive their identification cards, class schedules and billing statements.

To ensure availability of materials, students are asked to pre-register for the event. Additional information and registration are available by calling the Office of Admissions at (606) 783-2000 or (800) 585-6781.
